GROWTH OF $10,000 SINCE INCEPTION

MARKET COMMENTARY

The S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index staged a strong recovery over the June quarter, rising 9.48%. The rally came as fears of extreme tariff scenarios continued to recede, helping restore market confidence after a volatile start to the year. While geopolitical risks and global growth concerns lingered, sentiment improved as it became increasingly clear that the most aggressive US tariff proposals were unlikely to materialise. Markets have coined the term ‘TACO trade’- ‘Trump Always Chickens Out’- to describe the pattern of tariff escalation followed by policy reversals, which has contributed to easing market volatility. Financials (+15.67%) supported gains as investor sentiment improved, while Communication Services (+14.08%) and Real Estate (+12.88%) outperformed amid rotation into resilient sectors. In contrast, defensives lagged with Health Care (+2.37%), Utilities (+2.03%) and Consumer Staples (+3.93%) underperforming as risk appetite returned. Materials (-0.36%) was the weakest sector, weighed down by softer commodity prices and concerns over Chinese steel demand. While investors have enjoyed solid gains, often driven by narrow pockets of the market, the outlook highlights the importance of finding value beyond the obvious leaders.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The portfolio’s largest overweight positions include Flutter Entertainment PLC, GPT Group and News Corporation. Conversely, the portfolio’s largest underweight positions include National Australia Bank Limited, Macquarie Group Ltd (not held) and Telstra Group Limited (not held).

The portfolio’s overweight to EVT Limited contributed positively to relative performance over the June quarter (+25.1%), with the stock continuing to re-rate as the market narrows the disconnect between asset value and share price. The recent announcement of a sale process for the company’s prime 525 George Street property marks a significant milestone, unlocking value from its high-quality real estate portfolio. This follows a period of improving operating momentum, with a recovery in cinema earnings underway and spend per visitor continuing to grow. We remain constructive on EVT’s outlook, with ongoing earnings recovery, embedded property value, and potential capital management acting as catalysts for further upside.

The portfolio’s overweight to Washington H. Soul Pattinson (SOL) contributed positively to relative performance over the June quarter (+22.6%), with shares benefiting from ongoing strength in the investment portfolio and the announced sale of its strategic stake in Brickworks. The $2.7 billion deal brings an end to over four decades of cross-ownership between the two groups and was well-received by the market, with proceeds expected to enhance capital flexibility and simplify the group structure. Importantly, SOL retains its significant property exposure through its Brickworks holding, providing a cleaner investment structure while preserving access to high-quality assets. With a diversified portfolio and a proven track record of disciplined capital management, we believe SOL remains well-placed to deliver long-term value.

The overweight position to A2 Milk (A2M) detracted from relative performance over the June quarter (1.0%), with shares under pressure as softer China shipment data weighed on sentiment. May export figures showed a year-on-year decline in direct shipments to China, contributing to near-term uncertainty around the pace of recovery in A2M’s core infant nutrition segment. Nonetheless, the company’s brand strength, premium market positioning, and diversification strategy remain key positives. With recent weakness now largely reflected in the share price and long-term demand for high-quality nutritional products intact, we remain constructive on A2M’s outlook.

Myer detracted from performance over the June quarter (-6.9%) as recent sales updates highlighted a more challenging retail backdrop, with softer consumer demand and higher costs weighing on sentiment. Operationally, setbacks at the new national distribution centre in Ravenhall have delayed expected efficiencies and added to short-term strain. To mitigate these issues ahead of peak trading periods, Myer has implemented an interim logistics strategy, with third-party provider Toll now managing up to 40% of online volumes, while Ravenhall processes 10–15%. Despite these near-term challenges, underlying trends within the business remain encouraging. Growth in online sales, continued expansion of the MyerOne loyalty program, and early progress on cost savings from the Apparel Brands integration are helping to offset external pressures. Notably, recent upgraded profit guidance and progress on cost savings demonstrate management’s ability to execute in a difficult environment, providing a more positive foundation for earnings in the year ahead.

OUTLOOK

Looking ahead, we expect financial markets to grapple with a more complex and uneven growth backdrop. While recession fears have eased for now, the underlying risks - from geopolitical tensions to persistent fiscal imbalances - are yet to be resolved. The U.S. remains at the centre of global market attention, with high equity valuations, growing deficit concerns, and trade policy uncertainty likely to be key drivers of volatility in the second half of the year. In Europe, weak business conditions and rising tariff risks point to subdued growth. China’s ability to stabilise growth will depend heavily on further policy support, particularly as consumer demand shows signs of fatigue. Closer to home, the near-term picture remains challenging. Growth is expected to remain below trend as the economy works through the lagged impacts of tighter policy, a weaker household sector, and slowing public sector spending. However, with inflation moderating and interest rates likely to ease further, policy settings are shifting toward support. In this environment, we see greater dispersion in market outcomes, reinforcing the importance of selectivity and discipline across portfolios as investors navigate the next phase of the cycle.
