About this document

This Target Market Determination (TMD) is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (the Act). This TMD describes the class of consumers that comprises the target market for the financial product and matters relevant to the product's distribution and review (specifically, distribution conditions, review triggers and periods, and reporting requirements). Distributors must take reasonable steps that will, or are reasonably likely to, result in distribution of the product being consistent with the most recent TMD (unless the distribution is excluded conduct).

This document is not a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS), and is not a complete summary of the product features or terms of the product. This document does not take into account any person's individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Persons interested in acquiring this product should carefully read the PDS for the product before making a decision whether to invest in this product.

Important terms used in this TMD are defined in the TMD Definitions which supplement this document. Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the product's PDS, unless otherwise defined. The PDS can be obtained at www.perpetual.com.au.

Product description and Key attributes

Product description	This is a superannuation product for individuals to accumulate savings for retirement. This product is not a self-managed super fund.
Key product attributes	• Preservation rules – Amounts saved into superannuation cannot be withdrawn until retirement except in certain permitted scenarios. • Concessional tax treatment. • This product has: ○ a range of investment options (which provide access to specified managed funds that have different levels of risk and generate investment returns in different ways, over different timeframes and from different asset classes) for consumers to choose from. Consumers have the flexibility to change their investment selection as their needs and circumstances change over time. ○ each fund manager is also required to make a TMD for their products (excluding Perpetual Cash option) to assist investors with determining whether the investment is suitable. The TMDs for these investments should also be considered when making an investment decision. ○ subject to eligibility, consumers may apply for death, total and permanent disability (TPD) and salary continuance insurance. Consumers also have the flexibility to decrease or cancel their cover, or apply for additional cover, as their needs and circumstances change. There is no default insurance cover. ○ Online access.

Description of target market

The Target Market is the class of persons who are the type of consumer set out below, who have the needs and objectives set out below and are in the financial situation set out below.

Needs and Objectives of Consumer

TMD indicator key

The Consumer Attributes for which the product is likely to be appropriate have been assessed using a red/green rating methodology:

Other elements of TMD

Appropriateness requirements

Explanation of consistency of key attributes with TMD

The Perpetual WealthFocus Super Plan (the Plan) is a personal superannuation product, designed for advised or self-directed consumers looking to invest for their retirement within the superannuation environment. As withdrawals may only be made by consumers meeting a condition of release from Superannuation, the Plan may not be suitable for consumers seeking to draw an income stream from the Plan.

The Plan is designed to accumulate savings for retirement. It may be suitable for consumers in the retirement phase. For example, a retired consumer whose total superannuation balance exceeds the transfer balance cap that can be transferred to a tax-free retirement account may choose to keep some of their balance in an accumulation account for the concessional taxation benefits.

The Plan offers a range of investment options (which provide access to specified managed funds that have different levels of risk and generate investment returns in different ways, over different timeframes and from different asset classes) to build the retirement benefits of consumers of the Fund by enabling consumers to select the investment option(s) that most closely meet their own particular needs and circumstances.

Consumers also have the flexibility to change their investment selection as their needs and circumstances change over time. With a diversified range of investment options and asset classes, it may be suitable for consumers across a range of risk profiles and investment horizons.

Consumers seeking to choose a diversified portfolio in a single investment option may choose to invest in multi-asset class options that are classified by risk (moderate, balanced and growth) that are suitable as a stand-alone solution.

Subject to eligibility, consumers may also apply for death, total and permanent disablement (TPD) and salary continuance cover (subject to underwriting). Consumers are able to select their types and level of cover (within the minimum and maximum amounts offered in the Plan). Consumers also have the flexibility to decrease or cancel their cover, or apply for additional cover, as their needs and circumstances change.

The choice and flexibility offered by the Plan, in both investment options and insurance, make it suited for consumers seeking to select their investment options and insurance cover as suited to their own particular needs and circumstances. Consumers may do this independently or with the assistance of their financial adviser. The Plan has been assessed to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of clients in the target market as identified with a green TMD indicator in the above tables.

Distribution information

Distribution Conditions / Restrictions

The following distribution conditions apply to the Plan. Additional distribution conditions apply to the Perpetual Geared Australian investment option, as detailed over the page.

Channel	Distribution condition	Rationale
Non-advised (i.e. Direct)	Non-advised – via the Fund’s Promoter including the Promoter’s website www.perpetual.com.au including online and physical application forms. For a consumer to access the product directly, they must read and accept the PDS and meet applicable eligibility requirements under the law (for contributing to superannuation) and the insurance policy (for obtaining insurance cover).	It has been determined that the distribution conditions and restrictions will make it likely that customers who purchase the product are in the class of customers for which it has been designed. We consider that the distribution conditions are appropriate and will assist distribution in being directed towards the target market for whom the product has been designed.
Advised (Personal Advice only)	Distributors should only engage in retail product distribution conduct if they provide personal financial advice in relation to the product or are reasonably satisfied that distribution is necessary to implement personal advice given to the consumer. The consumer must also complete an application after reading and accepting the PDS.	It is likely that consumers who acquire the product will be in the target market for the product, or the product will otherwise be appropriate for them, because: Persons providing personal advice must consider the consumer’s individual circumstances and comply with the best interests’ duty and related obligations under Pt 7.7A of the Corporations Act.

Distribution Conditions - Perpetual Geared Australian Share investment option

Additional distribution conditions apply to one of the investment options accessible via the Plan - the Perpetual Geared Australian Share investment option - because it has a very high or extremely high risk and return profile, with the potential for significant volatility and losses.

Channel	Distribution condition	Rationale
Non-advised (i.e.. Direct)	Non-advised – via the Fund’s Promoter including the Promoter’s website www.perpetual.com.au, including online and physical application or switching forms. For a consumer to access this investment option directly, they must: • read and accept the product’s PDS and meet applicable investment restrictions applicable to this investment option (as set out in the product’s PDS and Investment Menu) • hold the investment as up to 10% of their total investable assets (those assets that the consumer has available for investment, excluding the residential home). See the TMD issued by the fund manager for Perpetual Geared Australian Share Fund for further information • obtain and acknowledge they have read the product disclosure statement for the underlying managed fund accessible through this investment option, and • complete a Target Market Assessment in the application or switching form. If the consumer has been assessed as being unlikely to be in the target market, the application or switching request will be rejected.	It has been determined that the distribution conditions and restrictions will make it likely that customers who acquire this investment option are in the class of customers for which it has been designed by the responsible entity of the underlying managed fund* accessible through this investment option. We consider that the distribution conditions are appropriate and will assist distribution in being directed towards the target market for whom the product has been designed. The Fund’s Promoter will monitor such situations to determine if there are significant dealings outside of the target market.
Advised (Personal Advice only)	Distributors should only engage in retail product distribution conduct if they are reasonably satisfied that distribution is necessary to implement personal advice given to the consumer.	It is likely that consumers who acquire the investment option will be in the target market for this option or the option will otherwise be appropriate for them, because: • Persons providing personal advice must consider the consumer’s individual circumstances and comply with the best interests’ duty and related obligations under Pt 7.7A of the Corporations Act.

* The responsible entity of the Perpetual Geared Australian Fund is Perpetual Investment Management Limited (PIML). The responsible entity is also the Fund’s Promoter.

Distributor* reporting requirements

Distributors required to report	Reporting requirement	Reporting period	Method of reporting (using FSC data standards where practicable)
All distributors	Complaints (as defined in section 994A(1) of the Act) relating to the product design, product availability and distribution. The distributor should provide all the content of the complaint, having regard to privacy	Within 10 business days following the end of a calendar quarter.	Information to be sent to DDOmail@perpetual.com.au
All distributors	Significant dealings outside the target market determination.	As soon as practicable but no later than 10 business days after becoming aware of a significant dealing.	Information to be sent to DDOmail@perpetual.com.au

* Distributors for the purposes of this TMD are the Promoter and advisers

Review period and triggers

Mandatory review periods
Review period	Maximum period for review
Initial review	1 year and 3 months
Subsequent / periodic reviews	2 years and 3 months

Review triggers
1) Where the issuer of the TMD has determined that any of the following has occurred: a) ASIC reportable significant dealing outside of TMD. b) Significant or unexpectedly high number of complaints (as defined in section 994A(1) of the Act) relating to the product where the product issuer considers this reasonably suggests that this TMD is no longer appropriate. c) Material change to key product attributes, terms and/or conditions where the product issuer considers this reasonably suggests that this TMD is no longer appropriate. d) The use of Product Intervention Powers, regulator orders or directions in relation to the distribution of this product where the product issuer considers this reasonably suggests that this TMD is no longer appropriate. e) A significant breach event relating to the design or distribution of this product where the product issuer considers this would reasonably suggest that (i) this product is unsuitable for a particular cohort of consumers and (ii) the TMD may no longer be appropriate. f) The issuing of a Significant Event Notice for this product where the product issuer considers this reasonably suggests that this TMD is no longer appropriate. g) The issuer's monitoring of investment performance under SPS 530 (including monitoring of the APRA heatmaps) reasonably suggests the TMD is no longer appropriate.
2) A significant reduction in insurance claims ratios, a significant increase in denied insurance claims, a significant increase in withdrawn insurance claims or a significant increase in insurance cancellations that reasonably suggests that this TMD is no longer appropriate.
3) The trustee of this product makes a determination for purposes of s52(9) of Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 that the financial interests of the consumers who hold this product are not being promoted.

Where a review trigger has occurred, this target market determination will be reviewed within 10 business days.

Definitions

In some instances, examples have been provided below. These examples are indicative only and not exhaustive.

Term	Definition
Consumer's intended option use (% of superannuation investment)
Solution/Standalone (up to 100%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 100% of their total superannuation investment . The consumer is likely to seek an option with very high portfolio diversification.
Major allocation (up to 75%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 75% of their total superannuation investment . The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least high portfolio diversification.
Core Component (up to 50%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 50% of their total superannuation investment . The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least medium portfolio diversification.
Minor allocation (up to 25%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 25% of their total superannuation investment . The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least low portfolio diversification.
Satellite allocation (up to 10%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 10% of the total superannuation investment . The consumer may seek an option with very low portfolio diversification. Options classified as extremely high risk are likely to meet this category only.
Superannuation investment	The total value of the investor's superannuation investment holdings.
Portfolio diversification (for completing the option attribute section of consumer's intended product use) Note: exposures to cash and cash-like instruments may sit outside the diversification framework below.
Very low	The option provides exposure to a single asset (for example, a commercial property) or a niche asset class (for example, minor commodities, crypto-assets or collectibles).
Low	The option provides exposure to a small number of holdings (for example, fewer than 25 securities) or a narrow asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, a single major commodity (e.g. gold) or equities from a single emerging market economy).
Medium	The option provides exposure to a moderate number of holdings (for example, up to 50 securities) in at least one broad asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, Australian fixed income securities or global natural resources).
High	The option provides exposure to a large number of holdings (for example, over 50 securities) in multiple broad asset classes, sectors or geographic markets (for example, global equities).
Very high	The option provides exposure to a large number of holdings across a broad range of asset classes, sectors and geographic markets with limited correlation to each other.
Consumer's intended investment timeframe

Term	Definition
Minimum	The minimum suggested timeframe for holding the option. Typically, this is the rolling period over which the investment objective of the option is likely to be achieved.
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
This TMD uses the Standard Risk Measure (SRM) to estimate the likely number of negative annual returns for an option over a 20 year period, using the guidance and methodology outlined in the Standard Risk Measure Guidance Paper For Trustees (note the bands in the SRM guidance differ from the bands used in this TMD). However, SRM is not a complete assessment of risk and potential loss. For example, it does not detail important issues such as the potential size of a negative return (including under conditions of market stress) or that a positive return could still be less than a consumer requires to meet their investment objectives/needs. The SRM methodology may be supplemented by other risk factors. For example, some options may use leverage, derivatives or short selling; may have liquidity or withdrawal limitations; may have underlying investments with valuation risks or risks of capital loss; or otherwise may have a complex structure or increased investment risks, which should be documented together with the SRM to substantiate the product risk rating. A consumer's desired product return profile would generally take into account the impact of fees, costs and taxes.
Low	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: • has a conservative or low risk appetite, • seeks to minimise volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 1 negative return over a 20 year period (SRM 1 to 2)), and • is comfortable with a low target return profile. The consumer typically prefers stable, defensive assets (such as cash).
Medium	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: • has a moderate or medium risk appetite, • seeks low volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 4 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 3 to 5)), and • is comfortable with a moderate target return profile. The consumer typically prefers defensive assets (for example, fixed income).
High	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: • has a high risk appetite, • can accept high volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 6 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 5 or 6)), and • seeks high returns (typically over a medium or long timeframe). The consumer typically prefers growth assets (for example, shares and property).
Very high	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: • has a very high risk appetite, • can accept very high volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear 6 to 7 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 6 or 7)), and • seeks to maximise returns (typically over a medium or long timeframe). The consumer typically prefers high growth assets (such as high conviction portfolios, hedge funds, and alternative investments).

Term	Definition
Extremely high	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: • has an extremely high risk appetite, • can accept significant volatility and losses, and • seeks to obtain accelerated returns (potentially in a short timeframe). The consumer seeks extremely high risk, speculative or complex options which may have features such as significant use of derivatives, leverage or short positions or may be in emerging or niche asset classes (for example, crypto-assets or collectibles).
Consumers need to access capital
This consumer attribute addresses the likely period of time between the making of a request for redemption of an option (or access to investment proceeds from an option more generally) and the proceeds from this request are applied to the consumer's account under ordinary circumstances.
Distributor reporting
Significant dealings	Section 994F(6) of the Act requires distributors to notify the issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the product that is not consistent with the TMD. Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when a dealing is 'significant' and distributors have discretion to apply its ordinary meaning. The issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the product, this TMD, and its distribution strategy, and to meet its own obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC. Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because: • they represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or • they constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumers). In each case, the distributor should have regard to: • the nature and risk profile of the product (which may be indicated by the product's risk rating or withdrawal timeframes), • the actual or potential harm to a consumer (which may be indicated by the value of the consumer's investment, their intended product use or their ability to bear loss), and • the nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red ratings attributed to the consumer). Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if: • it constitutes more than half of the distributor's total retail product distribution conduct in relation to the product over the quarter, • the consumer's intended investment option use is solution/standalone • the consumer's intended investment option use is core component or higher and the consumer's risk/return profile is low, or • the relevant investment option has a green rating for consumers seeking extremely high risk/return.
